1,500 Delegates Attend Milk Producers' Meeting

Lake county farmers are much interested in the result of the meeting of the board of directors of the Farmers' Milk Marketing Co. held in Chicago last week and attended by 1,500 delegates from the surrounding territory.

There has been a great deal of discussion in the result of the meeting of the board of directors of the company to say that farmers desire a "guarantee" of fifty per cent on the gross amount the farm for May milk. More or less criticism has resulted and it was for the purpose of a thorough understanding of the situation the Chicago meeting was held.

Statements were read showing the financial condition of the Marketing Co., and these clearly demonstrated that there had been paid for milk of considerable and desirable quality. It was also stated in the "report" issued from time to time.

In consideration of better prices for milk, cases and conditions with the direction of the company. But as the price of these products declined instead of increased, the necessity became apparent for a heavy spread for one month to cover losses which had been incurred.

County Not to Hire

Motorcycle Police

The finance committee of the county board of supervisors at a meeting Saturday vetoed employment by Sheriff Green of three motorcycle speed cops to patrol county roads.

It had been supposed that fines imposed as a result of speed violations could be used to pay salaries of the three officers.

When State's Attorney Smith was asked for an opinion on the proposition he held that the money received from the fines cannot be turned over to the sheriff to be used in paying the salaries of the motorcycle policemen, but must be turned over to the road and bridge fund of the county.

This would make it necessary to take the salaries of the motorcycle cops out of the general fund and the finance committee believed this inadvisable.

Ford Burns, But Owner Knows it Not

The latest Ford story comes from Augusta, Ga. A Ford was standing in front of a fashionable hotel on Peachtree street, says the Daily Chronicle, "it caught fire and six fire companies came and put it out, and went back to their respective station houses. Again it caught fire and the fire companies came a second time; put it out and returned to their stations. Then the owner of the Ford came out of the hotel, cranked up, got in, and rode away."

Defacing the Flag.

Driving nails or tacks in the flag to hold it in place is considered wrong. Preferably it should be tied with red, white or blue cord, or tri-colored cord. No advertisement or lettering of any sort should ever be placed upon the flag, or any object except the Bible placed upon it. Draping a pulpit desk with the flag, it being held in place by a Bible, is permissible.

Fordson Pulls Fire Engine

A Fordson tractor, rubber tire equipped, is being used by the city of Albany, Ore., for pulling its fire engine. The tractor is said to make between fifteen and twenty miles an hour. When the Ford camera man was in Albany recently, he asked permission to procure a photograph of the Fordson and fire engine. The mayor had the schools dismissed, declared a holiday, and had the fire department pull its equipment into Main street for photographing.

Remembered Goldfish in Will.

There have been any number of instances where money has been left to animals, and in some cases these wills have been upheld by the courts. Much attention was attracted to the will of a woman who left $70 a year for the maintenance of three goldfish. That there might be no misunderstanding she described them as follows: "One is bigger than the other two, and these latter are to be easily recognized, as one is fat and the other lean." She also made provision for flowers to be placed on the graves of the goldfish.

Charity Begins at Home, But This Is Not Charity

Decoration Day Antioch saw one of the largest crowds in its history. Next week the biggest holiday of our calendar will be here. As it comes on a Monday there will be a three-day holiday for many people.

These people, mostly from the city, will seek the open country and thousands will come to the lake region.

Antioch, the key city to the lakes, should take it upon itself to accommodate some of the visitors and as there are many homes in this town with spare rooms that could be utilized, The Antioch News offers its services free as a medium for placing the strangers for the holidays.

Phone the News if you have a spare room for the holidays and let the city folks and their children enjoy a little fresh air instead of having to go back to the crowded city to sleep.

INDIANS SELLING DEER

Fashion for Brides' Leggings Among Them the Cause.

The time-honored fashion of buckskin leggings for Yankina Indian brides has reduced the number of deer in the Cascade mountains in alarming proportions.

This is the warning statement given out by State Game Warden C. W. Darwin of Washington.

According to tradition it requires three deer skins to make the proper kind of leggings for a belle of the tribe who is about to wed.

Darwin has investigated and found that there are now an average of 100 weddings each year in the Yankina tribe. In and out of season deer have dwindled rapidly in that part of the state where Yankina Indians range and fish or hunt.

It is reported that when deer cannot be found on the reservation, the Indians have some method of going into the surrounding deer country and driving them back to their own lands. The state game warden intends to enter into a conference with the big chiefs in order to induce the Indians to change their custom from deer skins to shark skins or cloth.

The custom of the Yankina Indians is one followed by other Pacific Coast tribes. The bride is supposed to wear the wedding leggings until they are worn out. To wear them a long time is an omen of happiness and prosperity in the new home.

RHINE YANKS WIN PLAUDITS

Occupational Force Best for Size in World's History.

COULD MOVE IN 24 HOURS

Military Men of the Allied, Neutral and Former Enemy Nations Loud in Their Praises of American Forces—Send Delegations to Coblenz to Find Out How It Is Done—Is Real Army in Fulllest Sense of the Term—Inspected by Swiss.

A complete outfit, a miniature army equipped with all necessary services, capable of taking the field at 24 hours' notice without the assistance of any outside elements and one of the best military units ever organized in the world's history of armies—such is the description that military men of the allied, neutral and former enemy nations apply to the American army of occupation as it is constituted today.

That the efficiency of the training system of the American forces in Germany, the excellence of their equipment and their faultless military bearing are generally recognized throughout Europe is shown by the fact that missions from various countries have either visited Coblenz during the past few months or have applied for permission to come to this base and get first-hand knowledge of how it is done.

Inspected by Swiss Officers. A few weeks ago the chief of staff of the Swiss army, accompanied by several officers, spent a week in Coblenz as the guest of General Allen, the American commander, attended inspections, visited the barracks, reviewed the troops and returned to Berne to tell the officers of the Swiss army that the American army on the Rhine was "the most up-to-date, the best equipped and the best looking military outfit of all the armies of the world."

A commission from the Netherlands made a similar visit and was equally favorably impressed and now the Finnish government has asked permission to send a commission to Coblenz.

Should circumstances require the American army on the Rhine to move against an enemy or to occupy further territory 10,000 infantrymen composed of the First and Second brigades would furnish the bulk of the fighting force.

Their advance would be guarded against surprises and ambush by 800 cavalry and 18 airplanes, which would do the scouting before the moving infantry. Three trained pilots are available for each plane in case of airman meeting with accidents.

One thousand artillerymen, serving eight batteries of field guns, would be on hand to supply a barrage should it become necessary.

Coblenz Would Serve as Base. Three hundred men of the signal corps battalion would look after telephone and telegraph communications, with the base at Coblenz. The railway engineers' battalion, which is receiving constant practical training on a little branch line on the right bank of the Rhine, which they are operating, would, with the assistance of the motor transports corps, attend to the service of supplies of the expeditionary force.

The engineers' First battalion would throw pontoon bridges over such streams as were traversed in the advance. Six ambulance companies, assisted by a medical corps of 600, establishing field hospitals, would give first help to the wounded before their evacuation to the base hospital.

THIS MAN DREADED TO SEE NIGHT COME

Was So Restless He Couldn't Sleep and Daylight Was Always Welcome.

"With the exception of a little milk toast, which comprised my diet for more than eight weeks, I could not eat anything," said Capt. Geo. W. Womble, residing at 105 Jennings St., Knoxville, Tenn., a highly respected citizen of that city.

"I am now able," continued Captain Womble, "after taking two bottles of Tanlac, to eat practically anything. I had a bad form of stomach and intestinal trouble for a long time and for months my condition had been such that I suffered agony. I got so I could not eat the simplest food. I tried doctor after doctor and all kinds of medicine, but nothing that was prescribed for me seemed to do me any good. I had a terrible pain in my breast just over my heart and for weeks and weeks I got no relief.

"I finally got so nervous that I actually dreaded to see night come, as I could not sleep, and was always so restless that I would rejoice to see daylight come. I was also constipated all of the time. In fact, life seemed a burden and I was so miserable that I was almost on the verge of despair. Several of my neighbors told me about Tanlac and advised me to try it.

"I am personally acquainted with Mr. Dan M. Chambliss, of the firm of Kuhlman & Chambliss and when I told him of my condition and how I suffered he advised me to begin taking Tanlac without delay and that it had relieved hundreds of the best people in Knoxville. I have now taken two bottles of Tanlac and am giving you this testimonial in the hope that it may induce others to take it. Since taking this medicine I actually feel like I had been made all over again with the youth, energy and ambition of a sixteen-year-old boy."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

War discourages the international sale of perfumes, cosmetics and all toilet preparations, but such articles come quickly back to their own in foreign trade. This appears in the fact that in 1920 exports of these articles from this country were valued at $8,730,593, which is over five times the value in the pre-war year of 1914. Our largest buyer was England; our next, Cuba; third, Australia; and fourth Brazil.

Declarations of Independence

MECKLENBURG COUNTY COURTHOUSE, WITH DECLARATION MONUMENT

By JOHN DICKINSON SHERMAN.

HERE is of course but one Declaration of Independence—the Declaration of Independence we celebrate on the Fourth of July. It makes no difference that Richard Henry Lee's resolution "That these united colonies are and of right ought to be, free and independent states—" was introduced in congress June 7, 1776; that it was adopted July 2, and that the document itself was not made public until July 5, and was not signed by the members of congress until August 2. It was on July 4, 1776, that the vote on the Declaration itself was taken, and the document ordered "authenticated and printed." So the Fourth of July it is—and ever shall be.

Nevertheless, there are other Declarations, and some of them come pretty near being Declarations of Independence, except that they were not adopted by congress. The truth is that independence was in the air for some time before July 4, 1776. The leaders preferred to say that they were "petitioners in arms," even after Lexington and Concord and Bunker Hill, and many of them doubtless had no determination for independence. But the people in many localities were ripe for independence. So it is not to be wondered that some of them made declarations.

One of the earliest of these Declarations was that of the people of Mendon, Mass., March 1, 1773. It speaks for itself, and here it is:

"That all men have naturally an equal right to life, liberty and property.

"That all just and lawful government must originate in the free consent of the people.

"That the good, happiness and safety of the people is the great end of civil government.

"That a principle of self preservation, being duly planted by the God of Nature in every human breast, it is necessary, not only to the well-being of the individual, but also to the order of the universe, as attraction and cohesion are to the preservation of material bodies and the order of the natural world.

"That a voluntary renunciation of any power or privileges included in or necessarily connected with a principle of self preservation is manifestly acting counter to the will of the great Author of Nature, the Supreme Legislator, that a right to liberty and property is absolutely inalienable.

"That the claim of the parliament of Great Britain to the power of legislation for the colonies in all cases whatsoever is abhorrent to the spirit and genius of the British Constitution, to the letter of our charter and to the most obvious principles of reason and to the essential natural rights given us by God Almighty; and, finally,

"That the introduction of standing armies in a free country in time of peace, without the consent of the people, is a violation of their rights as free men."

Then there is the Declaration of the people of Hanna's Town, May 10, 1775. On that day the men of that portion of the colony of Pennsylvania lying west of Laurel Mountain and embraced in the present limits of the county of Westmoreland, then, and for long afterwards claimed by Virginia, to be within the limits of Augusta county, in the Old Dominion, assembled at Hanna's Town, then the seat of justice, to take counsel on the situation. The first two paragraphs of the document adopted are as follows:

"At a general meeting of the inhabitants of Westmoreland county, held at Hanna's Town, on May 10, 1775, for taking into consideration the very alarming situation of the country occasioned by the dispute with Great Britain, resolved unanimously, that the parliament of Great Britain by several late acts has declared the inhabitants of Massachusetts Bay to be in rebellion; and the ministry, by endeavoring to enforce said acts, has attempted to reduce the said inhabitants to a more wretched state of slavery than ever before existed in any country; not content with thus violating their constitutional and chartered privileges, they would strip them of their rights of humanity, exposing their lives to the wanton and unpunishable sport of a licentious soldiery and depriving them of the very means of subsistence.

"Resolved, unanimously, That there is no reason to doubt but the same system of tyranny and oppression will, should it meet with success in Massachusetts, be extended to other parts of America; it is therefore become the indispensable duty of every American, of every man who has any love for his country, or any bowels for posterity, by every means which God has put in his power, to resist and oppose the execution of it; that for us we will be ready to oppose it with our lives and fortunes. And the better to enable us to accomplish it we will immediately form ourselves into a military body to consist of companies, to be made up out of the several townships under the following association, which is declared to be the Association of Westmoreland County."

And, finally, there is the famous so-called "Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence," adopted at Charlotte, Mecklenburg county, North Carolina, May 20, 1775, of which the first three resolutions are as follows:

"Resolved, That whosoever directly or indirectly, abetted, or in any way, form or manner, countenanced the unchartered and dangerous invasion of our rights, as claimed by Great Britain, is an enemy to this country, to America and to the inherent and inalienable rights of man.

"Resolved, That we, the citizens of Mecklenburg county, do hereby dissolve the political bonds which have connected us to the mother country, and hereby absolve ourselves from all allegiance to the British crown, and abjure all political connection, contact or association with that nation, who has wantonly trampled on our rights and inhumanly shed the blood of American patriots at Lexington.

"Resolved, That we do hereby declare ourselves a free and independent people, and of right ought to be a sovereign and self-governing association, under the control of no power other than that of our God and the general government of the congress; to the maintenance of which independence we solemnly pledge to each other our mutual co-operation, our lives, our fortunes, and our most sacred honor."

INDEPENDENCE HALL, PHILADELPHIA

habitants of Westmoreland county, held at Hanna's Town, on May 10, 1775, for taking into consideration the very alarming situation of the country occasioned by the dispute with Great Britain, resolved unanimously, that the parliament of Great Britain by several late acts has declared the inhabitants of Massachusetts Bay to be in rebellion; and the ministry, by endeavoring to enforce said acts, has attempted to reduce the said inhabitants to a more wretched state of slavery than ever before existed in any country; not content with thus violating their constitutional and chartered privileges, they would strip them of their rights of humanity, exposing their lives to the wanton and unpunishable sport of a licentious soldiery and depriving them of the very means of subsistence.

And, finally, there is the famous so-called "Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence," adopted at Charlotte, Mecklenburg county, North Carolina, May 20, 1775, of which the first three resolutions are as follows:

"Resolved, That whosoever directly or indirectly, abetted, or in any way, form or manner, countenanced the unchartered and dangerous invasion of our rights, as claimed by Great Britain, is an enemy to this country, to America and to the inherent and inalienable rights of man.

"Resolved, That we, the citizens of Mecklenburg county, do hereby dissolve the political bonds which have connected us to the mother country, and hereby absolve ourselves from all allegiance to the British crown, and abjure all political connection, contact or association with that nation, who has wantonly trampled on our rights and inhumanly shed the blood of American patriots at Lexington.

"Resolved, That we do hereby declare ourselves a free and independent people, and of right ought to be a sovereign and self-governing association, under the control of no power other than that of our God and the general government of the congress; to the maintenance of which independence we solemnly pledge to each other our mutual co-operation, our lives, our fortunes, and our most sacred honor."

The Mecklenburg convention was called for May 10. Its original purpose was to pronounce the annulment of all laws and commissions in consequence of the king's address of February declaring the colonies in a state of rebellion; and to make provision for a temporary form of government "until instructions from the provincial congress regulating the jurisprudence of the province shall provide otherwise, or the legislative body of Great Britain resigns its unjust and arbitrary pretensions with respect to America." In this expectation an elaborate set of resolutions had been prepared.

Discussion of these resolutions was interrupted by the arrival of a courier with the news of Lexington. The convention reassembled in a fury of patriotism. It seethed and debated until well into the morning of May 20, when the quoted paragraphs were adopted as a preliminary to the regular business of the convention. It must be admitted that the Mecklenburgers did a good job. They organized a provisional central government. They sequestered all public and county taxes and all quit rents to the crown and declared traitors all persons who should accept new commissions from the crown or exercise old commissions. And they formed nine military companies for action—when the time should come.

Curiously enough, this Mecklenburg Declaration did not become generally known till 1810, forty-four years later, and then through publication in the Raleigh Register. Its publication caused an enormous stir, and began a controversy that may be said to be yet going on, inasmuch as some historians still refuse to accept the genuineness of the document. In 1810 Jefferson and John Adams were both old and testy. Adams said, in so many words, that Jefferson evidently had plagiarized. Jefferson angrily retorted that in his belief the document was spurious.

The controversy over the genuineness of the Mecklenburg Declaration immediately became fast and furious. North Carolina finally took a hand in it, and in 1831 its legislature appointed a committee of investigation. This committee reported that the document was genuine. Accordingly, May 20th was made a state holiday, which is celebrated as the "Anniversary of the Signing of the Mecklenburg Declaration." In 1893 in Charlotte, was dedicated a monument in commemoration of the signing of the Mecklenburg Declaration.

The historians have been busy all these years, and little by little the case of the Mecklenburgers has been built up, until now it is generally accepted.

The contract of government signed in 1620 in the cabin of the Mayflower in Massachusetts Bay may be said in a sense to be the first Declaration of Independence, out of which grew the Declaration of Independence of 1776.

single bat having left the column, says the Christian Science Monitor. American engineers stationed there told the officer that the flight of the bats had occurred at practically the same time each day during two years. From other sources it was learned that the phenomenon had been observed for at least 30 years.

Indian Anesthetic. While Indians have no anesthetics, properly speaking, their constant use of "cocoon" creates insensibility. They always apply this plant to wounds, bruises and contusions for healing purposes, and, as it certainly tends to deaden pain it not to eliminate it, they unconsciously employ an anesthetic. It is extremely difficult to obtain information from Indians regarding trophing, either merely because of their dislike of white men and their dread of interference and punishment, or because they associate "magic" with the practice and therefore think it must be protected by profound secrecy.

ORDERS PAY CUT ON 210 ROADS

Federal Rail Labor Board Decreases 12 Per Cent Reduction on All Big Lines.

SAVING OF $400,000,000

New Wage Schedule Effective July 1—All Class 1 Employees Hit by New Ruling—Unions Expected to Accept It.

Chicago, June 20.—The United States railroad labor board extended its wage reduction order, effective July 1, to practically every large railroad in the country. No change from the average 12 per cent reduction granted 104 carriers on June 1 was made by the decision. The board's order covers 210 roads.

The new wage decision of the United States railroad labor board will make a reality of the estimated $400,000,000 annual savings expected when the board's 12 per cent cut, effective July 1, is applied to all employees on all railroads known as class 1 carriers. The decision, drawn up as an addendum to the wage reduction order of June 1, was made public here. It adds practically every railroad in class 1 division to the original list of 104 roads authorized to make the 12 per cent reduction.

When the reduction order was issued, it was estimated that, if applied to all employees on all class 1 roads, it would lop approximately $400,000,000 from the country's railroad labor bill. The new decision will make this cut possible, by ordering reduced wages for employees not included in the original case.

Immediately following the announcement of the board's wage cut on June 1, roads from every section of the country poured in their applications to the labor board for authority to make similar reductions. A hearing set for June 6 included a total of 164 roads and in the next two weeks 61 more submissions were made and included in a hearing for June 20. A few roads which had not included all classes of employees in their first petitions for reductions came in with the remaining classes in the last hearing.

Many of the roads which asked reductions for only a part of their employees at the original hearing in May came back with applications to cover all employees in these two later hearings. Virtually every railroad in the country affected by the labor board's $800,000,000 wage award of July, 1920, was included in one or more of the three hearings.

Following the 12 per cent reduction, which was generally satisfactory to the board with added insistence that the 1920 wage award be wiped out. The board, however, was not inclined to change its scale of reductions determined in the June 1 decision and merely added to that decision employees involved in the subsequent hearings.

At the two June hearings the roads, for the most part, contented themselves with reiterating the evidence presented in May. Their arguments consisted chiefly of cost-of-living statistics and comparison of railroad wages with those in outside industries. The employees took up other factors laid down by the transportation act to be considered in the determination of just and reasonable wages. Hazards of employment, the living wage and similar lines of evidence were introduced in an effort to prevent any cut in wages.

While no definite returns have been announced from the referendum being taken by all the railway unions on acceptance or rejection of the 12 per cent cut, it was expected that conferences here on July 1 would agree to accept the board's decision without any interruption of traffic.

ANOTHER U. S. ADMIRAL TALKS:

Naval Attache at Paris Will Be Reminded if He Has Been Correctly Quoted.

Washington, June 20.—Rear Admiral Thomas P. McGruder, United States naval attache at Paris, will be publicly reprimanded if his speech in Paris was correctly quoted by L'Homme Libre.

While this was stated emphatically at the Navy department, it was quite evident that Secretary Denby believes Admiral McGruder was misquoted when he was made to say:

"Whenever comes, the United States will always come to the aid of France if France should be attacked. Our ambassador could not tell you that, but I can. My words do not need to be diplomatic."

House Passes Anti-Beer Bill. Washington, June 20.—The anti-beer bill, prohibiting the use of beer for medicine and further restricting the use of distilled liquor was passed by the house by a vote of 250 to 89. It now goes to the senate.

Eleven Dead in Kentucky Tragedy. Mayfield, Ky., June 20.—The bodies of five adults and six children were found in the ruins of the home of Ernest Lawrence, a farmer living about seven miles from here, which was destroyed by fire.

AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN

Mrs. Little Tells How She Suffered and How Finally Cured

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was not able to do my housework and had to lie down most of the time and felt bad in my left side. My monthly periods were irregular, sometimes five or seven months apart and when they did appear would last for two weeks and were very painful. I was sick for about a year and a half and doctored but without any improvement."

A neighbor recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me, and the second day after I started taking it I began to feel better and I kept on taking it for seven months. Now I keep house and perform all my household duties. You can use these facts as you please and I will recommend Vegetable Compound to everyone who suffers as I did."

—Mrs. J. S. LITTLE, 3455 Livingston St., Philadelphia, Pa.

How much harder the daily tasks of a woman become when she suffers from such distressing symptoms and weakness as did Mrs. Little. No woman should allow herself to get into such a condition because such troubles may be speedily overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been restoring American women to health.

An Old - Fashioned Celebration at the Park, Lake Villa, the Town That Does Things REVERENCE and JOYFULNESS

Reverence for those who fought and died for our Country, and for the living who served their Country in times of justifiable warfare, to whom a new steel flag pole with flag will be dedicated.

Reverence for the memory of Mrs. Augusta Lehmann, a good woman who loved our beautiful section so well as to leave for all time a beauty spot dedicated to the health and pleasure of the people. A large bronze tablet donated by the E. J. Lehmann Estate will be unveiled.

Joyfulness will also reign because those who could not fight for their Country can by their presence pay tribute to those who did and died and rub shoulders and grasp the hands of those who served and returned to us.

Joyfulness at the the reunion of old time friends and acquaintances.

Joyfulness in seeing and taking part in the exercises, athletic events, games, dances, etc.
